THE PARTY 1996

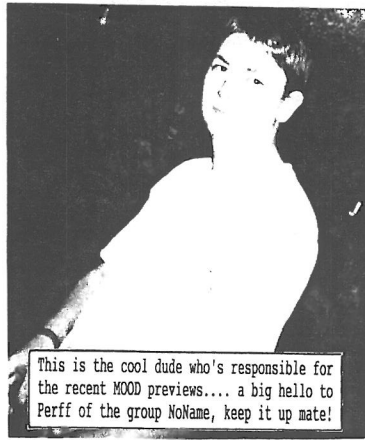

THE END OF AN ERA.....

Demoparty in Denmark - success for C64!
Written by our, on the scene reporter....MACX

The Party 1996 was held in "Massecenter Aars", which is located in Aars outside Aalborg in the north of Denmark. There was only meant to be room for 2500 people, but since so many showed up they skipped the arrangements for a sleeping-hall and instead 3500 sceners from all kinds of computers showed up to meet and socialize.

About 300 C64-sceners were there. All the way from Hungary were groups like Coma and Graffiti present. The party was divided up into three halls and in one of them was a BIG screen. There were bathing facilities in a bathing house nearby, and since there were no real sleeping places anymore, they fixed it so that for anyone who felt sleepy could go to a nearby school and sleep. The entrance fee was the same as last year.... 250 Dkk (about 25 British pounds), and 24 hours a day there was a snack bar open, where you could buy all kinds of food. For anyone who wanted to save some money, there was a 'real' shop not so many minutes away.

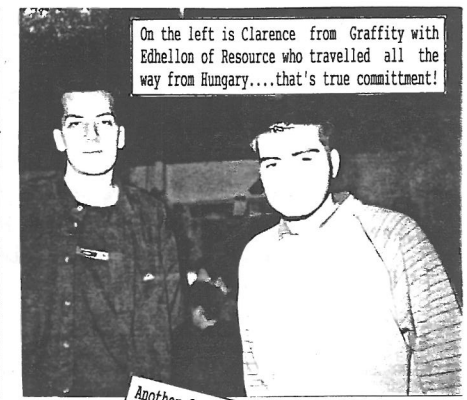

This was the 6th party in The Party series and it was also called The End Of An Era. According to the C64-organiser Heavyhead/Chromance, no-one was sure if this was to be the last, The Party. The original organisers want to quit but there have been so many groups that have told them that they would take over, it is hopeful that there will be a The Party 1997.

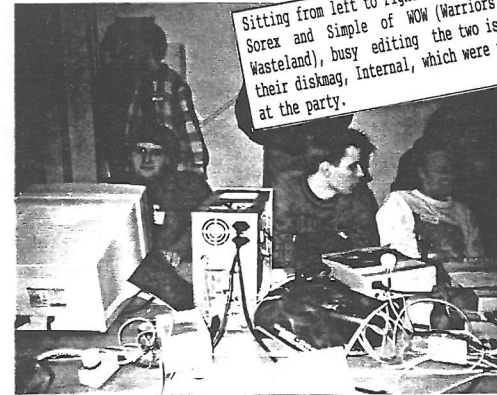

This is the cool dude who's responsible for the recent MOOD previews.... a big hello to Perff of the group NoName, keep it up mate!

Here's Vinci and Gosh from Hack 'n Trade...guess what Vinci is holding?!

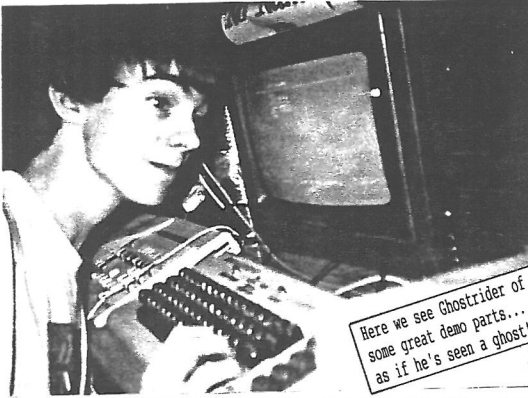

On the left is Clarence from Graffiti with Edhellon of Resource who travelled all the way from Hungary....that's true commitment!

Sitting from left to right we have Einstein, Sorex and Simple of WOW (Warriors of the Wasteland), busy editing the two issues of their diskmag, Internal, which were released at the party.

Another 2 well known figures on the scene.... On the left we have Deekay of Crest/Onslaught with the C64 party organiser, Heavyhead of Chromance.... love the bandana and obviously he's into pizza's! Well done to Deekay for the undoubted success of THE PARTY 96.

Here we see Ghost rider of NoName working on some great demo parts... actually, it looks as if he's seen a ghost!

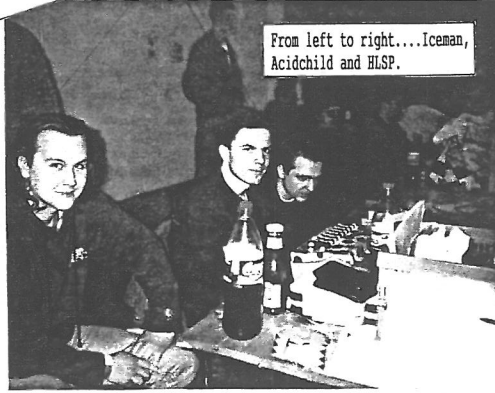

Look at this motly crew!!! and wouldn't you just know it, our roving reporter, MACX has made himself the center of attention!! This is the group NoName... right at the back is Maestro and then from left to right we have Ghost rider, Cyberbrain, our hero Macx, Quac, Perff and Kilroy. At the front crouching is Zakk and Celtic.

THE PARTY 1996

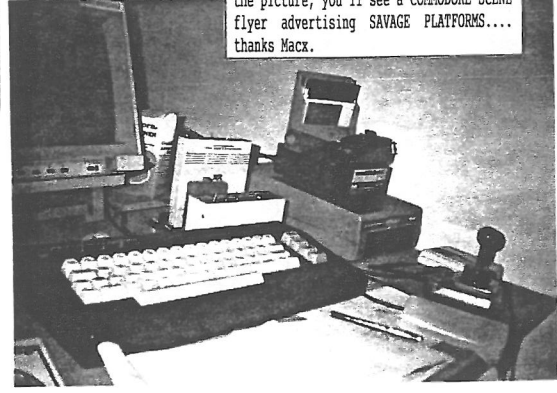

THE END OF AN ERA.....

What can I say? Obviously they're enjoying themselves.... what I want to know is what were they drinking?! Up front we have V.O. of Plush with the intelligent looking one behind him being Hogan of Reflex, and the long haired genius at the back is Warp 8 of Flash.

From left to right....Iceman, Acidchild and HISP.

Quite a set up this.... no it isn't mine! Look closely and you'll notice an FD 2000 sat on top of the old trusty 1541. Even better sat on a 4 way board connected to the cart slot is a SUPER CPU, an ARC and a 1764 REU!! Good stuff, and it just goes to show you that these foreign dudes like to keep up with the technology available. Who does it all belong too? Thunderblade of Fairlight, that's who, and if you look very closely in the bottom left hand of the picture, you'll see a COMMODORE SCENE flyer advertising SAVAGE PLATFORMS.... thanks Macx.

These two well groomed chaps are Oxidy and Blackdroid of Wrath.
